lege Days with Man Who

portant Position

BOXING COMMISSION SELECTED

Two Milwaukeeans and Eau Claire Man Chosen;
Barber Examiners Are Named Today

Word was received here today
of the appointment by Governor McGovern of Attorney William F. Wolfe, La Crosse, as member of the board of normal school regents to succeed Lieut. Governor Thomas Morris,
whose term expired January last.

Mr. Wolfe has been a member of the board for three terms, one of which was spent as president of the body. He resigned the presidency of the board upon his election as Lieut.

WILLIAM F. WOLFE

tenant governor two years ago but retained his membership until the expiration of his term. He has been acting since the first of the year, however, pending the appointment of his successor.

Wolfe a Democrat

The appointment of Mr. Wolfe causes some comment in view of the fact that he is one of the most prominent democrats of the state and has several times been mentioned as a candidate for governor. In fact, there was a strong movement in the progressive ranks of the democracy to pit him against McGovern for gubernatorial honors last fall.

His appointment, however, is believed by many to be an expression of genuine regard on the part of the governor who was a roommate of the local attorney while in the University of Wisconsin law school.

Attorney Theodore Kronshage, of Milwaukee, law partner of the governor, is president of the board, having been chosen following the resignation of Mr. Morris. Emmet Horan, Eau Claire, was also named to serve on the board until 1918.

Boxing Commission

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 21.—Governor
McGovern today appointed the following to be members of the Wisconsin boxing commission, created under the recently enacted Hedding boxing bill, legalizing ten round
bouts:

Dr. C. W. Morter, Milwaukee, for four year term; W. H. Liginger, of Milwaukee, three year term; William Hart, Eau Claire, two year term.

Liginger was formerly president of the A. A. U.

The commissioners will probably meet in Milwaukee within a week to appoint a secretary. The commissioners are not salaried, but the secretary will have charge of all commission business and will receive a salary of $1,500 a year.

The governor today named the men who will have charge of the arrangements for Wisconsin's exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915. The following were named to be members of the commission:

John T. Murphy, of Superior, Wis.; A. W. Prehm, Wausau, present member of the state fair board, and Dr.
A. J. Prost of Oshkosh.

Names Barber Board

The governor also appointed to be state barbers examiners Henry Brem-mert, Green Bay; M. J. Brennan, Janesville, and Tony Ertl, Cedars-burg.

FIVE PERISH IN FARM HOUSE FIRE

Parents and Three Children
Killed in Flames
Which Destroy Farmhouse

FOUR ARE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Nebraska Farmer Loses His Wife and Three Children
When Kerosene Can
Explodes

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Aug. 21.—
Five people were burned to death
when the farm residence of Henry Sternweis, living sixteen miles northwest of here, was destroyed by fire last night. They were Mr. and Mrs.
Sternweis and their three children.
Three bodies were recovered today,
and the others are supposed to be in the ruins. Neighbors saw the fire and rushed to the scene in automobiles and on horseback, but were unable to extinguish the flames or enter the building to investigate. When the ruins were cooled today the search was started and three bodies were found, charred beyond recognition. How the fire started is a mystery.

Officials discovered evidence today indicating that the five people were murdered and that they were not accidentally burned in their home. The bodies of Mrs. Sternweis and one of the children were found in the ruins of the house while the body of Sten-weis was found in a granary nearby.
All of the buildings on the farm were burned with the exception of one and rags saturated with kerosene were found in this building, showing that an effort was made to fire it. Near the house eleven empty revolver cartridges were found, but the three bodies taken from the ruins are so badly charred it is impossible to tell whether they were first murdered or not.

HEMINGFORD, Neb., Aug. 21.—
The wife and three children, aged two, five and eight, of J. S. Pittman, a prominent farmer, are dead today
as the result of a kerosene explosion which destroyed their home.
The mother was pouring oil into the kitchen stove when the five gallon can, almost empty, exploded, killing the two younger children outright.

The oldest child, a girl, was burned
to death before she could escape.
Mrs. Pittman, with her clothing on fire, ran into the yard but she was not able to extinguish the flames until they had completely burned the clothing from her body. She died later.

The husband was working in a distant field. He reached his burning home in time to save his two months old baby.

POWERS HEADS MERGER

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—W. H. Powers of Boston, it was generally believed, would be chosen president of the merger of the National Fraternal congress and the Associated fraternities, at the election this afternoon.
The final vote on the question of amalgamation was to be taken this afternoon and officers of both organizations declared that the reports of the committees would be adopted. The merged organizations will sail under the name of the National fraternal congress.

MITS INSURANCE TAX

ST. PAUL, Aug. 21.—Branding
the federal tax on life insurance policies as "the cancer that consumes life insurance energy," Young E. Allison, editor of Insurance Field, Chicago, this afternoon, charged the 300 delegates at the American Life convention to "begin at once a campaign of protest against unjust taxation and bring the army of policyholders to see the injustice of the insurance tax and demand justice."

STUDEBAKER WEDS ACTRESS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 21.—
Ewing Studebaker, Riley, grandson of J. M. Studebaker, Sr., the last of the famous Studebaker brothers, of South Bend, will be married to Jessie Carter, a stock company actress in St. Louis Sept. 15, it was announced today. Studebaker fell in love with Miss Carter when her company was playing here.

VETERAN POLITICIAN DIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Alexander
Sullivan, 64, veteran Chicago lawyer, died today at a hospital after a five days' fight against blood poisoning,
caused by a slight injury to his heel.
He was a well known Irish leader.
He was twice tried for murder in the Cronin case, and figured in most of the political activities of Chicago for half a century.

DETECTIVE QUILTS

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 21.—Charles Christensen, chief detective of the Racine police force for six years,
who last spring shot and killed young arrested for wife desertion, today
tendered his resignation to take effect on September 1, because some of the patrolmen were continually "knocking" him, as he said in his explanation to the chief.

DIGGS CONVICTED SENTENCE HELD OFF

San Franciscan May Pay a $20,000 Fine or Get Twenty Years or Both

WILL APPEAL SAY HIS LAWYERS

Declare They Will Fight
the Case to Supreme Court if Necessary

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 21.—
Interest in the Diggs case centered today on the severity of the sentence likely to be imposed by Judge Van Fleet Sept. 2 on Maury I. Diggs, convicted last night of having violated
the Mann federal white slave law,
when he went with Miss Marsha Warrington, Drew Caminetti and Miss Lola Norris from Sacramento to Reno.

Having been convicted on four of the six counts in the indictment Mr.
Diggs may be sentenced to pay a fine of $20,000, to twenty years imprisonment or both.

That there will be an appeal, however, seems certain. Diggs' lawyers stated, immediately following the return of the verdict, that they would take the case to the supreme court of the United States if necessary.

Diggs, his wife, father, mother and three aunts, who with Mrs. Caminetti, were in the courtroom, when the jury returned showed little emotion at the announcement of the verdict.

Diggs, indeed, made it plain when the jury first went out that he expected a conviction.

There was no delay on the part of Diggs' relatives in furnishing the $20,000 bail required by Judge Van Fleet as a condition of the young man's release pending sentence and appeal.

It was announced that the trial of Drew Caminetti, in connection with his elopement with Miss Lola Norris, will begin August 26.

A citation was issued today for the immediate appearance of Mrs. Chas.
D. Lane, widow of the Alaskan millionaire, in the federal court, to answer Juror Bliss' accusation that she tried to discuss the Diggs case with him before the verdict was reached. At the Lane home the process servers were told that Mrs. Lane had gone to San Diego and that it was not known when she would return.

LOST MAN IN LAKE

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of J. H. Whittaker, Davenport, Iowa, merchant, was cleared up today when Mrs. Whittaker, who is visiting here, received word that the body had been picked up in Lake Michigan and was being taken to Chicago by steamer. Whittaker disappeared from the steamer Manitou on August 12, while crossing Lake Michigan.

T. R. SEES SNAKE DANCE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Col. Roosevelt is today witnessing the famous Hopi Indian snake dance, one of the prime objects of his trip into the Navajo desert in Arizona, according to a telegram received here today
from Grand Canyon, Ariz., by Chas.
Ryberg, chairman of the progressive executive committee, who is trying to induce the colonel to Chicago in time for the progressive meeting here August 30.

WINS BY LONG SET

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—R. N.
Williams of Philadelphia, member of the American team which lifted the Davis cup, today defeated W. M.
Johnston, the California star, in the feature match of the day in the national tennis championship at the Casino. Williams won the match in the fourth set, but not until Johnston, playing sensational tennis, forced the set to 14 games.

JOHNSON FORCES STRIKE

LONDON, Aug. 21.—A general strike of all members of the Variety Artists' federation seemed probable this afternoon because of the music hall managers' failure to heed the formal protest made by the federation against the appearance of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, on the stages of London.

SHORT $385,000.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 21.—It was said this afternoon that the $1,000
offered for the arrest of Raymond E. Smith, missing cashier, secretary and treasurer of the looted Roseville Trust company, would be increased,
when the report of the examiners,
made public today, showed that Smith's shortage is now placed at $358,000.

SUSPEND FRUIT RATES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Suspend-tion of rates on green fruit from points in Idaho and Montana to the east by the Oregon Short line was ordered by the interstate commerce commission today. The rates were considerably higher than present tariffs and the commission will investigate the reasonableness.

CANADA WARRANT IS OUT FOR THAW

Attorneys Declare He Can Leave Jail Safely
Whenever He Pleases

U. S. AUTHORITIES ARE HELPLESS

Prisoner's Legal Lights Get Warrant Sworn Out
Which Will Hold
Him in Canada

COURTHOUSE SHER-
BROOKE, Aug. 21.—All proceedings in the Thaw case under the habeas corpus proceedings were postponed this afternoon
until next Wednesday at ten o'clock.

SHERBROOKE, Aug. 21.—
District Attorney Conger of Dutchess county, N. Y., is enraged because the Thaw lawyers had secured a delay until next week, and tried to force action this afternoon. He had the habeas corpus writ directing the production of Thaw in court served on the jail officials. This was immediately after Judge Globensky had departed on the afternoon train, and the plan was to try to get a judge of equal jurisdiction to come here and turn Thaw loose, so that the immigration authorities
could take him into custody.

Instead of bringing Thaw, the governor of the jail came in person and found no judge on the bench. Thaw's lawyers hurried to court to fight his production and to demand his release on bail if another judge appeared, but they did not have to act.

(By John Edwin Nevins, staff correspondent of the United Press.)

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 21.—
The positive claim that Harry A.
Thaw would leave the local jail a free man, privileged to go where he wishes, was made to the United Press by the Thaw attorneys this afternoon. They declared their case already won. A warrant for the arrest of Thaw, issued under the immigration law and alleging that he entered Canada at a place not a legal port of entry, is a Thaw move.
It was secured today to keep Thaw
in the dominion indefinitely.

The Thaw lawyers profess to believe that political influence is at work to force the local court to turn Thaw loose so that he can immediately be deported as an undesirable. Arrest under a specific section of the immigration law would prevent this and keep the case in court indefinitely.

Thaw this afternoon wired to Pittsburg to Roger O'Mara, his guardian under the orphan's court proceedings here. O'Mara is necessary if this fight is to be won. In his care is half a million dollars of Thaw's income. This money is to be a potent factor in the Thaw defense.
Dr. Britton D. Evans, chief alienist for Thaw, made this plain this afternoon in discussing the case for the United Press.

"They have said that the Thaw millions were helping him," said the New Jersey physician. "Let me say that the Thaw fortune is Harry's greatest curse. If he did not have a single dollar he would now be free, but there is very good reason in a financial way why Thaw should not go free so far as certain New Yorkers are concerned.

"The plans of the Thaw family were officially disclosed this afternoon. They are subject only to the minor changes which exigency may make necessary.

Outline of Plan:

"Here is the outline as completed:
"Judge Globensky is expected to turn Harry loose on the charge now pending. He is chafing under criticism that he is being influenced to grant delay. He may jump the trap-es at a moment's notice and upset
all of the Thaw plans by releasing him from jail. This at the present time would be a calamity to Harry,
as it would permit the dominion
authorities to deport him forthwith.
So the warrant alleging violation of the immigration law of a specific but unimportant nature was secured.
As a last resort it will act as a stay.
"Then we will fight the deportation of Thaw as an undesirable citizen. Immigration authorities have their laws to keep paupers out. We will have O'Mara to prove that Thaw has plenty of money and that he (O'Mara) will not permit him to become a charge on the dominion."

While a crowd that filled every corner of the big courtroom perspired and wrangled the Thaw lawyers successfully staved off their client's appearance in court. They had agreed to argue for a writ of habeas corpus at ten o'clock. They did not do so, but, instead, at 11 a. m., they announced that they might make a move at two o'clock, and while they successfully held off for delay the opposition remained in the dark as to their ultimate intention.

MRS. FELBER NEAR THE STATE TITLE

Six Up on Mrs. Colman at Finish of the Morning Round of Semifinals

THE OTHER MATCH IS EVEN

Kenosha and Blue Mound Players Fight to Draw on First Nine Holes

In the semi-finals of the state golf tournament at the La Crosse Country club this morning, Mrs. Felber of this city had a lead of six on Mrs.
Colman, also of La Crosse. Mrs. Felber now has a good chance of winning the title. Although Mrs. Fel-ber's lead is on only half of the round the prospects of her winning out are thought to be excellent.

The other match in the championship was played between Miss Adams of Kenosha and Miss Greene of the Blue Mound club who played even during the morning's play. The match was well played and exciting
all the way and an exceptionally close finish is looked for.

Minor Flights

In the morning flight "or the president's cup, Mrs. Thompson of La Crosse led Mrs. Halfact of La

Esther Farrand, La Crosse, led Mrs.
Ablett, La Crosse. All the matches were very close today and great interest is being taken on the outcome of the day's play.

Due to the fact that only four were in the flight for the La Crosse cup and two were eliminated yesterday in the semi-finals, the finals of this flight were not held today but will be played tomorrow in order that all the finals may be played at the same time. The tournament will be finished tomorrow.

Those who were eliminated as a result of yesterday's play today were entered in a match handicap tournament against bogie and the first round was played this morning. The results, however, will not be complete before this evening.

POISON IN STOMACH

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—A coroner's physician who examined the viscera
of Jan DeLaTour, Austrian nobleman, who died under mysterious circumstances two weeks ago, today that he found large quantities of arsenic.

Mrs. Wanda De LaTour, wife of the dead nobleman, who is at liberty under $5,000 bond, formally charged with poisoning her husband, declared today that if poison was discovered in the dead man's stomach he took it himself while demented.

today, Coroner Hoffman announced that he will reopen the inquest into De LaTour's death.

BLAMES DRESS FOR VICE CONDITIONS

Madison Chief of Police
Tells Vice Probe Poor
Girls Go Wrong to Get Better Clothes

TRY TO REACH HIGHER LEVEL

Declares Downfall Comes in Effort to Get Into Higher Scale of Society

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 21.—(Special.)—Thin dresses and slit skirts, among "other outlandish dresses that would have been the cause of a woman's arrest if worn ten or fifteen years ago, was designated as one of the causes of white slavery by Chief of Police Shaughnessy of Madison in his testimony before the vice investigating committee of the legislature yesterday afternoon.

Chief Shaughnessy said that some of the poorer girls went wrong trying to get more attractive dresses to wear and other finery. They are attempting to reach above their own social scale. Others are led astray through the lure of the automobile and an attempt to be in the company with men, whom they consider higher up in the social scale than they are.

Talk of Dress and Boys

"Just listen to what girls between 14 and 18 years are talking about and you will have discovered one of the evils today," said the chief. "It's dress and the boys. They are always trying to get some dress or garment that will attract the attention of the men on the street or anywhere. In twenty years clothes worn by men have changed but little. But look at the women. Why the dresses some of the women wear today would have resulted in their arrest if worn by them on the streets ten or fifteen years ago."

Chief Shaughnessy was asked by Senator Teasdale, chairman, if the question of wages had anything to do with the vice question.

"Very little," answered the chief.
"In the first place some of the parents of girls do not take proper care of them and in the second place
these girls will do anything to go with a man who to them appears above their social scale. They like to go out automobile riding. Gradually they are induced to take long trips, occasionally they will drink a little to be congenial, and all of the rest follows in close succession."

Hits Motorcycle Duets

Following a suggestion of Assemblyman Minkley of Milwaukee, the chief said that it would probably be better if girls were not allowed to ride motorcycles with men, except in a side seat. In many cases he said the evil had been traced to public dance halls and parks. He thought every city should pass a dance hall ordinance, as was recently done in Madison, in which girls under 18 years of age unless accompanied by parents, must go home.
This applies only to public dances.
He declined to make any statement as to whether an established vice district was a menace, but declared that Madison permitted no houses of ill fame to operate.

According to Miss Ann Wilson of the Associated Charities of this city, home conditions have much to do with the prevalence of vice. She said that many young girls were either not allowed to entertain at home, or else they felt that they did not desire to take men to their home because of conditions there. She did not know how to remedy the evil of girls making "dates" to meet men up town, on certain corners, but believed it was one of the conditions that must be considered in discussing the question.

Attempt to Rise

Miss Wilson said that many of the girls are attempting to get into a higher social scale and that this was one of the prime causes. She discussed problem of looking after girls who are employed in hotels, but under cross examination admitted that evil conditions were not confined to any one class. She thought the wage problem had little to do with the question. She pointed to the fact that many girls would refuse employment in private homes, where they would have good surroundings and preferred to work in a hotel at less wages, so they would not be subjected to so many restraints.

At the suggestion of the committee Miss Wilson had gathered a list of all of the documents available on the subject and gave them to Chairman Teasdale. It was tentatively decided to visit all of the cities of the state later, after the members had familiarized themselves with the scope of the subject.

GYPSIES ATTACK KING.

VIENNA, Aug. 21.—A special dispatch from Bucharest this afternoon said that the queen of Rou-mania ("Carmen Sylva") and King Charles had a narrow escape when Gypsy bandits attacked the automobile in which they were riding.

They were saved, it is said, only by the presence of mind of the royal chauffeur, who turned on the full power of the machine and dashed through the band, knocking down several of the gypsies.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

COTTAGE FOR RENT

By MOLY MACMASTER

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Warburton sighed heavily and again gazed longingly through an aperture in his hedge. It was perhaps the tenth time during the last hour that he had done the same thing.

The girl, sitting clicking away at a small typewriter on the other side of the hedge, seemed totally unconscious of the pair of masculine eyes, devouring her beauty. She smiled to herself as her fingers flew across the keys and her story progressed rapidly.

When the story was finished she, too, sighed. After all, it was rather lonesome, this self-inflicted seclusion, even though it was bringing her splendid results from the world of fiction. For two months Lydia Barry had not left her garden retreat nor had she met a soul in the village. She had held herself aloof, wanting only to write—write the stories that would make her name famous—and Lydia was succeeding wonderfully.

Not so successful was Warburton. Perhaps this was because he had won his laurels a year or so ago and was not worrying about present work. He thought only of the girl in the next garden, the girl with the hair that looked like new mown hay in the moonlight. His brushes refused to paint cattle and sheep and limped pools when Lydia Barry sat in the garden and wrote love stories.

Why had she taken the cottage next his own and disturbed the work and peace of his habitual summer retreat? And why had she, having come, refused to enter the village society that he might meet her properly and fall in love with her if he so desired?

Warburton sighed. "She has no right!" he insisted to himself, and began another rough outline of Lydia's profile as she bent over her writing.

A few more days of secret admiration were away and Warburton became desperate. He must and would devise some way of becoming acquainted with his garden love. He surreptitiously enlarged the hole in the hedge one dark night and smiled triumphantly at his achievement. During the day he smiled more broadly, and in the afternoon took an express train to the city. It was a scant twenty miles, and Warburton returned with satisfaction lighting his entire personality.

Three days later Lydia was disturbed in her writing. Her small maid came to tell her that a stranger had come to look at the cottage. Lydia indignantly arose and confronted a young couple, who showed her the advertisement that had attracted them. They had found it in the morning paper.

"But it is a mistake," Lydia told them, with a moderation of her indignity. "My cottage is not for rent and never will be. I am sorry the newspaper has blundered."

When the disappointed couple had gone, casting backward glances of admiration at the vine-clad cottage, Lydia returned to her writing. Her thought had been interrupted, however, and a slight pucker of wonderment lay between her brows.

"A very curious mistake for a newspaper to make," she remarked to herself. She read again the advertisement that the house hunters had been good enough to leave with her. "Cottage for rent. Suitable for artist or writer. The Arbor, Marcus Lane, Sea Cliff."

Lydia put down the slip of paper and returned to her work. The incident lingered in her mind but a story began to grow out of it.

"After all," she decided, "everything is in the nature of suggestion. Perhaps if more people come to look at my cottage I may get a good story from it. It at least breaks the monotony." In her last thought Lydia admitted for the first time to herself that she was lonesome—very, very lonesome.

Other people did come—for it was the spring renting season and Lydia turned them all away with the same answer. Then on the seventh day, he came.

Lydia's maid had gone to the village and when the doorbell pealed loud and long so as to reach the far corner of the garden Lydia went to answer its summons.

The color sprang swiftly into her cheeks and a quickly hidden expression into her eyes. In her complete surprise the girl opened the door and Warburton went quickly inside. He felt as if he would have lifted her aside had she failed to let him in.

"I have come to look at the cottage," he told her and felt guilty—so guilty that Lydia cast a quizzical glance at him and bit her lip to keep from smiling. The whole situation had come to her so suddenly that it took her breath away.

Here was the guilty person who had put that advertisement in the paper and was trying vainly to conceal his embarrassment. Lydia smiled openly and found that she could not summon even a suggestion of anger. He looked so conscience stricken, so utterly boyish, standing there in his white flannels and wondering what to say next.

Lydia decided to help him. "Perhaps you would like to see the garden first," she said, and led the way. "Since you have no doubt come all the way from the city I will offer you a cool lemonade or ice tea—whichever you prefer."

There was scarcely hidden mockery in Lydia's eyes and it brought a dull red to Warburton's cheeks. "The trains are rather hot, are they not?" Warburton laughed whimsically and held her mocking eyes.

"How do you know that I live next door, and that I put that advertisement in the paper?" He sank into Lydia's own chair and she dropped into another.

She in turn was blushing and the mockery had given place to fugitive glances, all of which sent waves of consecutive thrills over Warburton. Lydia's voice was not quite steady. She realized, however, that the big, white clad figure would stay in her garden until she answered it. There was that in his bearing and the expression of his eyes that told her he would get what he wanted.

"There is one room in my cottage that overlooks the surrounding gardens," she told him and blushed outright. "Also, people who look through high-up apertures in hedges—have feet. Sometimes hedges are not thick at the base and—"

"And you have known all along?" questioned Warburton without shame at her revelations. "You have known all this time that I was losing weight under my desire to know you, and that you have driven me almost to criminal methods in order to meet you—why, I could perhaps be flung into prison—for that ad." He laughed happily.

"I think you are a prisoner—already," Lydia told him.

Of 1,100 cases of removal from country to city personally investigated by T. J. Coates, supervisor of rural schools in Kentucky, more than 1,000 were caused by a desire for better school, church and social advantages.

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

(From Feminine World.)

The use of creams on the face sometimes causes hair to grow. You can avoid the risk of acquiring superfluous hair by avoiding cosmetics and using mercolized wax instead. There is nothing better for any condition of the skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red, blotchy or pimply skin. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's and apply nightly like cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. It takes a week or so to complete the transformation.

The ideal wrinkle eradicant is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings almost instantaneous results.—Advertisement.

No sooner was the name of Mr. Graesier sent to the senate for confirmation than a protest arose. It has been growing louder and louder and is now being followed by written objections, signed by democratic voters in the city and township.

The politicians say he has been a stalwart republican for many years, though not politically active.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Funny Little

Edna Pretends

To be Blind.

Their Mother Tied Bows In Their Hair.

JACK and Evelyn were glad to hear daddy say he had a new story about Edna. They had relished stories about Edna before. She is a little girl who does and says many funny things.

"Since she has come home from visiting her grandpa and grandma," daddy began, "Edna has become very shy. However, some folks think Edna is only pretending, for she used to be a very friendly little girl."

"A short time ago her sisters, Florrie and Mimi, were to go to a picnic. Edna begged to be allowed to go too."

"I don't see why you want to go," Florrie said. "You will only run away and hide from the little girls."

"The picnic was to be given by the lady who taught the children's class at Sunday school. She had said that they would have it at what is known as Flat rock. Flat rock is a big level stone at the head of a little brook that goes gurgling down between mossy banks and tall, shady trees. Flat rock is only a short way from Edna's home."

"When the morning of the picnic came round the children's mother dressed them in nice white dresses and tied pretty bows in their hair."

"Then she started out with them for the picnic ground. They had not gone very far when Edna's mother felt a little hand slipped into hers. It was Edna's hand. When she looked at Edna she saw that the little girl had her eyes tightly closed."

"Edna's mother shook her gently. 'Open your eyes,' she said. 'You won't be able to see the picnic if you keep your eyes closed.'"

"But Edna only shut them tighter. Florrie and Mimi made fun of her. Still Edna would not open her eyes."

"When they reached the picnic ground there was no one else there. 'No one can see you. Open them now,' Florrie urged, but Edna's eyes stayed shut."

"Several little girls came to Flat rock just then. The picnic was really held at Silver lake instead of at Flat rock, but not all of the children had got the postcards telling them so. This was the reason Florrie and Mimi and the other little girls had come to Flat rock."

"When the little girls saw Edna walking about with her eyes shut—one of them said to the other:

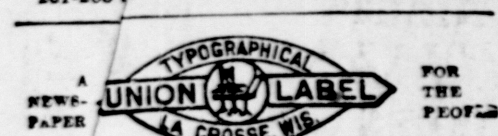

"'Poor little thing; she must be blind!' Edna heard and opened her eyes just for a minute to dart a glance at them."

"'Why, no; she isn't blind at all!' one little girl exclaimed."

"'No; she's a little humbug,' the other little girl said. And Edna was so angry she forgot to close her eyes until they were nearly home again."

A. Frank H. Burgess, business manager of the La Crosse Tribune, do solemnly swear that the actual number of copies of the paper
named, printed and circulated during the month of July, 1913, was as about stated.*Frank H. Burgess*Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of August, 1913.A. E. BIECKMAN, Notary Public.WHAT MANNER OF MAN MELLON IS

We are sorry for Mellon. He is not a man so much touched with guilt as victim and sacrifice. He was not a principal, but an agent. It wasn't he who conceived the dream, nor he who made the millions out of it. Railroad presidents are pawns; when they get "in bad" in Montana and Oregon they are transferred to New England; when their unpopularity becomes nation wide they are pensioned off. Wall street is the place where the deeds are conceived, the pawns moved, the millions cashed. Some one man conceived all that the New Haven has done. Isn't the public intelligence great enough to identify him? Some one man made money out of it for himself and his associates. If it is like other similar exploitations, the same group are now making money out of the New Haven's troubles by selling the stock short. Later on, when the small stockholders have become discouraged or unable longer to hold on, the same group will make more money by buying the stock in cheap and reorganizing the road. Some day public intelligence and capacity for co-operation will be great enough to stop all this.—Collier's.

NOW AS EVER
"THERE'S A REASON"

"Speaking to his fellow citizens at St. Paul about congressmen," says the Saturday Evening Post, "James J. Hill was reported as saying: 'If we could just tie a bell on each one of those fellows and put on a long pair of ears, then box them up and adjourn congress, we should be doing something worth while. If we could get them to stay adjourned for ten years this country would see an unprecedented period of prosperity.'"

"There is a great deal of truth in that remark. Remembering Mr. Hill's Burlington deal, by which he converted one hundred and seven million dollars of stock into two hundred and fourteen million dollars of bonds, recalling his Northern Securities plan, which would have inflated railroad capitalization by one or two hundred millions more; and looking back to his celebrated lease of orelands to the steel trust, which would have imposed a huge cumulative burden on the steel industry for a couple of generations if the trust had not at the last moment got cold feet—recalling these and various other episodes, we have not the least doubt that if Mr. Hill were given a free hand for the next ten years the prosperity that would accrue to a certain modest citizen of St. Paul would be something to amaze the world. As to what would happen to the rest of the population we are less certain.

"The fundamental trouble with Mr. Hill consists in his constitutional inability to comprehend that he himself incarnates one reason why congress cannot adjourn for ten years. It is precisely because of our Mr. Hills that congress should, in fact, remain in perpetual session. Even then it would probably be a few laps behind."

We are now coming in for the semi-annual application of Mr. Hill's argument to state affairs; it always follows adjournment of the legislature, and the "Post's" reply to Mr. Hill will without alteration serve for those who now "protest too much in Wisconsin." For instance, the shoe fits our water power friends.

ANOTHER COLD
STORAGE ABUSE

When there are 65,000,000 pounds of butter held in cold storage and prices at the same time are going up the consumer naturally wonders where his interests come in. He has been told many times that the storing of food is a good thing for him, because it gives him in the seasons of scarcity the surplus accumulated in the seasons of plenty. Yet today with butter being produced in large quantities and the butter holdings among the largest ever known he is paying near mid-winter prices.

Chicago jobbers, it is reported, attribute the ruling high prices and heavy cold storage stocks to the warfare between the Chicago and the Elgin butter boards. They predict that a disastrous ending in the present campaign in cold storage butter will mean the death of the Elgin butter board.

It was not so long ago that this latter board received the attentions of the government on the ground that its members were conspiring to hold up the price of this almost universally used article of food. At that time several hundreds of thousands of pounds that had been held were placed on the market.

Today while the situation is different, conditions, from the consumer's viewpoint, are the same. In a time when butter should be cheap he is paying high prices. What will be asked for butter in winter—the natural high price period—must be left to the imagination.

The people of this country are rapidly reaching the point where they look with strong disfavor on all attempts to interfere with the normal laws of supply and demand. Rightly used the cold storage plants might be utilized to equalize prices throughout the year; abused they only serve to cheat and rob the consumer.

John D. Rockefeller declares that he feels like a boy. John must have a scheme for putting another independent oil company out of business. There are a few men who insist on telling the truth. Others appear to want to save it for their old age.

It would appear from the x-ray skirt and a few other creations women are wearing that the men of this generation are setting the moral standard in dress.

When a man passes 30 he begins to think of a home. When a woman reaches the same age she commences to plan on how to break into one.

SHOW UNDER HAMMER

DENVER, Col., Aug. 21.—Today marked the end of "the greatest show on earth," for by order of the United States district court, the Wild West and Far East show of Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill is being sold "in piece lots" to satisfy creditors. A large number of circus and show men from all over the country were here today when the auction began. An effort had been made by Gordon Lillie, Pawnee Bill, to have the show property transferred to New Jersey and handled under receivers, but Judge Robert E. Lewis ruled otherwise. The show was sold in lots to attract the largest possible number of bidders. The show went to the wall here a few weeks ago when it was attached by a Chicago lithographing firm for a $66,000 debt.

TO CHOOSE POSTMASTER

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

A Quick Witted Boy
Elihu Root tells a story about himself and his efforts to correct the manners of his office boy. One morning the young autocrat came into the office and, tossing his cap at a book, exclaimed:

"Say, Mr. Root, there's a ball game down at the park today and I want to go down."

Now, the great lawyer was willing that the boy should go, but thought he would teach him a little lesson in good manners.

"James," he said, "that isn't the way to ask a favor. Now, you sit down in my chair and I'll show you how to do it properly."

The boy took the office chair and his employer picked up his cap and stepped outside. He then opened the door softly and, holding the cap in his hand, said quietly to the small boy in the big chair:

"Please, sir, there is a ball game at the park today; if you can spare me I would like to get away for the afternoon."

In a flash the boy responded:

"Why, certainly, Jimmie, and here is 50 cents to buy your way in!"

The Burglar's Skill

Husband (at police station)—They say you have caught the fellow who robbed our house night before last.

Sergeant—Yes. Do you want to see him?

Husband—Sure! I'd like to talk to him. I want to know how he got in without waking my wife. I've been trying to do that for the last twenty years.—Judge.

Stumping Questions

"The most amazing railway incident I ever witnessed happened when I was on a limited express in Pennsylvania," relates a globe trotter.

"A new flagman, whose hours of duty were supposed to terminate at 7 o'clock, had been stationed at a crossing which the limited was timed to pass at 6:58."

"On this particular night the train was late. At about twelve minutes past the hour the gatekeeper heard it in the distance and planted himself, red lantern in hand in the middle of the track of the limited."

"The driver was trying to make up lost time, and the train was speeding, but he brought it to a standstill at the first wave of the red light. He jumped off his engine and ran ahead to find out why he had signalled."

"What made you signal?" he demanded angrily, seeing no evidence of danger.

"What kept ye," was the angry retort."

Painful Dressing

A man complained to his doctor recently that every time he bent forward slightly and held out his arms horizontally, waving them around in a small circle, he felt a sharp pain in his left shoulder blade.

"Well," snorted the doctor, "why the dickens do you want to do such a contortion act?"

"How else is a man to put his overcoat on, doctor?"—Harper's Weekly.

Poor John's Exchange

Dr. Smith often hired a man by the name of John Downs, to work for him. John had the name of stealing eggs, and the doctor often noticed the hens did not lay as well on the days that John was there, so he decided to investigate the matter a little.

One day as John was leaving for home, the doctor strolled out to the gate and after passing the time of day, he said:

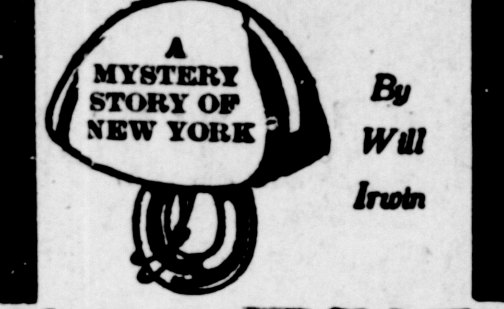

"John, why don't you put your hat down on your head?" and suiting the action to the word brought his hand forcibly on John's stovepipe hat. There was a crash and poor John's face was deluged with broken eggs.

"Faith, doctor," said John, "I bring them from him to buy me some medicine."—National Monthly.

PARADE IN CHEYENNE

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 21.—A parade of pioneers who have lived in Wyoming for forty years or more was the feature of today's program of the frontier days celebration here. Led by a dilapidated frontier coach still bearing the marks of ancient days, several hundred men and women rode through the streets in wild west garb. An Indian war dance and "bulldozing a steer" by cowboys were other features.

THE RED BUTTON

Copyright, The Delta-Macmillan Company.

During these last dramatic stages of Miss Estrilla's narrative, Rosalie Le Grange had slipped into the room. For a moment, Miss Estrilla gazed full upon her betrayer. For a moment, all that the tropics had given her of storm and flame glared from her eyes. Then that light died away. Thereafter, it was as though Rosalie had not been. If Miss Estrilla's glance, wandering from one point to another in her effort to concentrate on her narrative, touched upon Rosalie's figure, they looked straight through it.

Rosalie moved by imperceptible stages to Detective Kennedy's table. Casually, she picked up a fountain pen and a sheet of paper, and wrote:

"New York, Nov. 18, 190—
"I am telling to the police all I know of my part in the death of Captain John H. Hanks. I have confessed that we followed him to America to get jewels, and that it was my brother Juan who appeared to have stabbed him."

The Inspector was questioning gently now upon the apoplexy theory, hoping to trap the witness into an inconsistency. While she talked, Miss Estrilla (or Senorita Perez) paused from time to time as though gathering strength. Rosalie waited for such a pause. Then she braced the paper on a book and slipped up to Inspector McGee.

"You've forgotten this," she said, "you were going to get it signed at the very first, you know."

Inspector McGee's expression proved that he was puzzled. But he had become accustomed to following Rosalie's mental flights without knowledge of their destination. He nodded, therefore, and gave book, paper and pen to Miss Estrilla. It was the best possible compliment to the Inspector's Third Degree methods, that she signed without a protest. Rosalie took the paper silently; but she did not deposit it where it belonged—among the official papers on Detective Kennedy's table. As she resumed her station outside the door, she was folding it in her fingers.

The police went on, then, with their searchings and questionings. They failed to notice, so absorbed were they, the sound of retreating footsteps on the stairs.

We resume, with the painstaking Detective Kennedy, the statement of Margarita Perez, alias Estrilla.

"It was apoplexy. But Juan did not know it yet. He only knew that Captain Hanks had fallen on the knife and died, and that it would look like murder. He understood your law; he knew that to get our property he was committing what looked like burglary, and that a burglar who commits murder can not plead self-defense. He waited by the window to see whether the fall had disturbed the house. No one stirred—probably an elevated train was passing at the time it happened. Frightened as he was, he still thought of the jewels and decided to take them, whatever the risk. He examined the box; the bill of sale was there. Circumstances had changed now; an empty strong-box in the room of a man who appeared to have been murdered might set the police on the track. He thought of this. So he took the box, open as it was, switched off the electric light, and started to leave by the door. The catch of the spring-lock was on. To lock the room from outside, he would have had to slam the door—you know how a spring-lock works. That would have made a great deal of noise. It might awaken some one, who would hear footsteps going from Captain Hanks's room to mine. He put the box under his arm and fastened back the catch of the spring-lock, so that he could close the door without a sound. Of course, that left it unlocked. In doing all this, it seems, he spilled out of the box the diamond buckle which I found on the stairs."

"Juan went back to my room because he wanted time to think. His first idea was to leave the house dressed in my clothes, just as we had planned, and join me. Then we would escape together. But he knew that the police generally catch fugitives from justice in the end. We were in a strange country. We had no friends to help us. If we were missing from the house in the morning, if we were caught escaping, every one would believe us guilty. Then he had another idea. If I could return, still disguised as Juan, after the body was discovered, he would have a perfect alibi."

"While he was thinking about this, Mr. North came home and fell into the blood, as you know."

"Immediately Juan heard some one calling murder from below. That was his chance to carry out his plan. He telephoned to me. I came. I have told you about that. He changed to his own clothes. I made him go down-stairs and offer to help. My clothes, which Juan had worn down the fire escape in the rain, were still a little wet. I looked them over carefully; there were no blood-stains on them. I put them by the register to dry; and I cleaned the shoes—that pair of red ones there in the closet. By the time they came to take me away to this house, no one would have known that my garments had been out in the wet."

"When they moved me, I took away the jewels and the strong-box in my bedding. Later Juan dropped the box into the river, and sent the jewels to my cousin in Caracas."

"It was his plan to leave the country as soon as we might do so without attracting suspicion. But when they arrested Mr. Wade, I could not agree to that—I could not have his death on my soul. Juan was imploring me to leave; but I told him that I would not until Mr. Wade was released or acquitted. If it came to the worst, I would confess. I persuaded Juan that I was right. That is why we stayed. We had no other reason."

"I make this statement without hope or offer of reward or immunity, solely in the interest of justice."

The Polite Man.

The probability is that the polite man wishes to sell you something.—Philadelphia Ledger

Being an exceedingly wise man, Cardinal Gibbons believes women will get equal suffrage, if not anything else they happen to want.

The Home Beauty Parlor,
By Betty Dean

Mrs. W.: Your wrinkles, especially in middle age, are inexcusable and a certain remedy for them consists in treating the skin thoroughly with a plain almond cream jelly, easily made at home. This is made by pouring 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine in ½ pint cold water, into which is then dissolved 1 ounce almond. Massaging with this simple vegetable cream jelly will quickly rid the skin of lines, blackheads and wrinkles and when used for flabby muscles and hollows will make the flesh firm and smooth.

Sally J.: Your dry hair and dandruff are common troubles which are very easily cured. Try this tonic which I and many of my friends have used and found perfect. Mix one ounce quinzoin with ½ pint alcohol and add ½ pint cold water. Rub this invigorating tonic into your scalp twice a week and the hair roots will take on a healthy growth. I know of nothing so prompt and sure in destroying dandruff and to remedy itching scalp. This tonic is wonderfully stimulating to hair growth and should be used in connection with canthrox shampoo. I am writing to-day about canthrox also. See answer to Verity.

Verity: If you will keep your scalp clean and pliant by occasionally shampooing with a teaspoonful canthrox dissolve in a cup hot water, the hair roots will grow strong and vigorous, resulting in a head of healthy, beautiful hair. This canthrox, which is easier to use than any shampoo of which I know, creates a wealth of white, thick lather that dissolves all dust and dandruff and neutralizes excess oil. Rinsing leaves the scalp immaculately clean and the hair dries rapidly, with a rich, even color and is ever so fluffy and brilliant.

Mayme: Yes, I know a harmless fat reducer that works rapidly and which many of my too heavy friends used to bring them to normal weight. Into 1 ½ pints hot water put 4 quincea parnotis; strain when cool and take a tablespoonful before meals until weight is sufficiently reduced. Then take the treatment. This parnotis is a fat reducer.

Eleanor: The girl who laughed at your "make-up" must have had some little cause at least. Most face powders give that artificial look. Besides, they rub off so easily and do damage to sensitive skins. Here is a formula which I find has met with wonderful success. Dissolve four ounces of spumax in ½ pint water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply this lotion to face, neck and arms and rub until dry. It whitens the skin naturally, will cling a long time, seeming really a part of the skin, to which it gives a dainty glow and velvety softness, and is a good preventive of all skin blemishes.

GLYNN HAS NEW EXECUTIVE OFFICE

Opens Second Set of Governor's Chambers in New York Capitol at Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 21.—When Lieutenant Governor Glynn as acting governor, took charge of the new executive chambers on the third floor of the capitol building today, capitol guides "pointed with pride" to New York's two executive chambers and explained that New York is the only state in the union having two governors.

Downstairs in the old executive chamber Sulzer works early and late and receives visitors cordially. He also receives all mail addressed to the governor of New York. Government regulations provide for its delivery at the "executive offices" and Glynn's lawyers refused to allow his friends to initiate proceedings for a change, apparently fearing such action would give the governor a chance to test Glynn's title in the courts.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Mille.

"It is an easy matter to banish objectionable hair or fuzz from the face or neck without pain or injury to the skin if a delatone paste is used. A little powdered delatone is mixed with water to form a thick paste and applied to the hairy surface for two minutes, then removed and with it will come every trace of hair. The skin should then be washed to remove the remaining delatone and it will be firm and free from spot or blemish.

"Summer complexion troubles will be a thing of the past if you apply daily to the face, neck and arms a mayatone lotion package made by dissolving an original package mayatone in a half-pint witch hazel. This dries rapidly, imparts a velvety smoothness and healthy tint to the skin and is far superior to powder, because one application lasts an entire day and it is actually invisible when on. The mayatone lotion banishes the oily, 'shiny,' 'washed-out' condition and readily dispels tan, freckles and other complexion upsets without any danger of growing hair."—Advertisement.

SAYS DAKOTA WILL HAVE GOOD CROP

Albert Johnson Says Conditions in North Dakota Are Better Than in Canada

Albert Johnson, who has been in North Dakota for some time, has returned to the city with glowing reports of the conditions existing in the west. He asserts that land in North Dakota is as good as can be found anywhere and that the crops there will be good.

According to Mr. Johnson, the conditions in the United States are much better than those existing in Canada over the border from that state, both in regard to government and prosperity. Whereas in North Dakota the farms all present an air of prosperity and are well kept up, he says, across the boundary line in Canada it is just the opposite. This, he claims, is due to the fact that the Canadians receive approximately ten cents per bushel less for wheat than do the farmers in Dakota in addition to which the cost of farm implements and of living is much higher.

Mr. Johnson advocates the abolition of tariff on wheat and on farm implements. He thinks that this would make better conditions in the northern country.

NEW STORE TO OPEN
IS ONE OF CHAIN

Mr. Burrows of Chicago to Start Cloak and Suit Establishment Here

With the opening of the Burrows store in the McMillan building in the next few days, La Crosse will have probably one of the most up-to-date suit and cloak stores in western Wisconsin.

Harry Burrows, who will operate the store, is in business with his brother, A. Burrows, in the Burrows stores in Chicago. The Chicago establishment is well known. The store here is one of a chain of stores that have sprung from the Chicago concern, and be operated in partnership by the two brothers.

The large, well ventilated store room in the McMillan building, is being fitted out in the best style. It will be thoroughly lighted throughout, having one hundred electric bulbs of high power, as well as the window lights. There is little obstruction in the center of the floor of the main sales room, clothes racks being placed on the sides of the room and in cases that are set in the wall. A large portion of the wall space in front of the closets is covered with mirrors.

When completed, the window display that Mr. Burrows is arranging with the help of local trimmers will be decidedly unique. The effect of marble and gold will prevail in the background, with the displays in front. The date of the opening of the store will be announced at a later date.

The first days of the opening of the stores will be for the entertainment of persons desiring to see the new store and stock. On these dates no goods will be sold. Souvenirs of the day will be presented to those calling on the opening days, by Manager Burrows. The Burrows store is not being run in connection with the establishment that was formerly in the building, but is a separate concern.

Mr. Burrows declares he has found that the secret that made his Chicago store such a large success was principally the fact that he and his brother always made it a point to treat customers with utmost courtesy.

62 IMPRISONED IN 400 FOOT SHAFT

Force of Men in Bowels of Earth Helpless While
Fire Rages Above
Heads

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A force of men today began clearing away the debris in the aqueduct tunnel at 149th street and St. Nicholas avenue, where, last night, sixty-two men were imprisoned 400 feet below the surface and in peril of death for five hours while fire destroyed the wooden superstructure.

Their danger was heightened by the fact that three dynamite blasts had been set off just before the fire and the men were near suffocation from the fumes when the blaze cut off all ventilation. Burning fragments of the building fell into the shaft and made more menacing smoke. The fire also disabled the pumps which kept the shaft clear of water. The imprisoned men were made more uncomfortable by the knowledge that they were near 900 pounds of dynamite, housed in the shaft.

DROUGHT TO BOOST
COST OF LEATHER

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—The great Kansas drought, besides threatening an advance in the cost of beef, hit the purse of the lowly consumer in another spot. It may cause an advance in the price of shoes.

This was the gloom thought given to the public today by J. Harry Selz, newly elected president of the Selz-Schwab shoe company.

"The Mexican war scare is nothing to the feeling of uneasiness that would spread over the country if the people knew how scarce cattle are," said Selz. "It looks as if a cattle famine were coming that will cause leather prices to soar until they are double or triple the present figures."

NORTHWESTERN

DEFEAT GAS FRANCHISE
OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 21.—By nearly three thousand majority the people of Omaha yesterday turned down a 25 year franchise asked for by the Omaha Gas company, although the entire city administration, two newspapers and the combined public utilities of the city were lined up behind it. The gas company offered dollar gas for a long time franchise and even paid the expenses of the election.

M'ALPINE BURIED
MYSTERY IS DEEP

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 21.—The McAlpine murder mystery remained unsolved. No arrests have been made and the police claim they know of no one able to solve the riddle. Chief Troyer said on Wednesday morning that he is as much in the dark as any one regarding the tragedy.

Funeral services for Mr. McAlpine were held in Eau Claire, Wis., and members of the family remained there.

THE EFFECTS OF OPIATES.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotics, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

ENLISTED MANY TO FIGHT SHARK BILL

Capital Pawnbroker Tells Lobby Probe Labor Men and Saloonists Helped in War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Union labor men and saloonkeepers—both of whom George D. Horning, Washington pawnbroker, swore helped fight the Dyer "loan shark" bill were subpoenaed today by the house lobby investigating committee in a final effort to find out just where various defense funds raised by the money-lenders, went.

The committee today had developed the fact that the fight made on the District of Columbia "loan shark" bill was not a local, but national one, and that pawnbrokers, note brokers and their allied interests, all fought to defeat the measure. Four funds totalling $15,000 already have been discovered and more have been hinted at. The fight included sending Patrick J. Ryan, a chairman of the legislative committee and Milton Snelling, former president of the Central Labor union through the country, campaigning for congressmen they thought would oppose the Dyer bill. Their campaign expenses, the witness swore, were paid by himself and a saloonkeeper.

Today Horning resumed his testimony. He was to be followed by Representative Johnson of Kentucky, chairman of the committee that had the bill in charge and then the procession of saloonkeepers and pawnbrokers was scheduled.

HRUSKA'S TRIPLE WINS FOR COLTS

Locals Beat Winona in the Eleventh when Catcher Triples with Bases Full

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 21.—Jack Hruska with his trusty war club broke up yesterday's game in the eleventh round, when with the bases loaded, he lined out a three cushion shot to center field sending three pairs across the rubber and giving La Crosse a great 8 to 7 victory over the league leaders. The visiting backstop's clout came with only one down and brought to a finish a heavy hitting and sensational battle.

After the Colts made a desperate ninth round rally and tied the score, Winona came back in the eleventh, scoring twice and apparently winning the game. But the visitors proved that they could come back for the second time, for in their half Thomas and Breckenridge singled and were advanced by De Rusa's sacrifice. In this pinch, Safford was passed because of his hard hitting, and Hruska, who had made only one hit, was up. He fooled them and got revenge for the attempt to play for him by clouting the second ball pitched to the fence for a triple which sent in three men and ended the game.

Twenty-eight safeties were made during the game, Winona securing twelve, while La Crosse poked sixteen to safe territory. Lodge pitched the entire game for the visitors while Snow, who started for the locals, was taken out and Myers called to the rescue.

The swatting of Breckenridge featured the game, the fielder making five hits in six times up. Thomas La Crosse .21000010103—8 16 4 Winona .0000230002—7 12 3 Batteries: Lodge and Hruska; Snow, Myers and Meyer.

250,000 MEN JOIN GOVERNOR ON ROAD

Missouri Turns Out for the Second Day of Concentrated Effort on Highways

MOVEMENT PROVES STATE WIDE

Only Drought Counties Where Roads Are Too Hard Fail to Join in Endeavor

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 21.—Before the sun goes down tonight more than $1,000,000 worth of work will have been done on the roads of old Missouri, according to an estimate today by Governor Major. More than a quarter of a million Missourians awoke this morning with burned arms and calloused hands and at the lead of their governor built roads for a second day's work.

All Enthusiastic Governor Major was highly pleased by reports reaching him of road improvement. Practically every county in the state reported enthusiastic work and only a few localities failed to catch the spirit. They were excused on account of drought in their sections, which one road overseer reported made the roads so hard that they could be worked with nothing less than dynamite.

Organization for the campaign to "pull Missouri out of the mud" was complete. For weeks the road overseers of the state have been assembling equipment and outlining the work so systematically that a very squad of men was put to work without confusion.

Two national guard road days are expected to result from a proclamation today. As soon as the Missouri people can estimate the value of the two days' work he says he intends to call upon the governors of every state in the union and ask them to join him next year in two national guard days.

Women Help Everywhere throughout the state the women have proved as enthusiastic workers as the men and thousands served appetizing meals to their men folks along the route of their labors.

Governor Major and Governor Hodges admitted this morning that they were a little sore from their operations of a road grader, but pointed with considerable pride today to a quarter of a mile of graded road which they finished while the movie men were on the job.

LIFE MEN DISCARD BLANKET POLICIES

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 21.—Group insurance by which an employer obtains a blanket policy, insuring all his employees against death, was condemned by the unanimous adoption of a resolution at an executive session of the American Life Insurance convention here today.

Representatives of the old line companies declared that the issuance of group policies is unfair, dangerous and inimical to legal reserve life insurance, and that it violates all the principles of selection on which life insurance is based, since individual medical examinations are ignored.

Another resolution was adopted, condemning the increased rates for medical examinations and declaring that while $5 was charged in some sections of the country, $3 was a sufficient fee.

QUINCY TO LEAVE.

The Quincy broke her rudder here yesterday morning at 6 o'clock when she tried to make the turn preparatory to landing.

THREATEN DEATH TO CONGRESSMAN

Chairman of Committee Tells Lobby Probers Life Was Endangered Through Bill

HE SUPPORTED LOAN SHARK BILL

Man Followed Him Three Nights in Search of Chance to Kill Him, He Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—That his life had been threatened because of his advocacy of the Dyer bill regulating "loan sharks" in Washington was the sensational charge made today by Representative Johnson of Kentucky, chairman of the committee that considered the measure.

Johnson declared that he had received anonymous threats by the hundred, warning him to desist trying to pass the Dyer bill. Many of the threats were not specific, he said, but all promised that he would suffer if he did not quit "bothering" the pawnbrokers and loan sharks. In proof of his assertions, the witness produced an affidavit, made February 6, 1912, by Spencer Roberts, a policeman, swearing that Sam Cornwell had told him he had followed Johnson three nights trying to kill him.

Johnson said that Roberts in a recent conversation declared that Cornwell had said to him that he yet intended to kill Johnson.

"On February 8, two days after this affidavit was made," said Johnson, "I saw a man I believe was Cromwell, as I was on a street car going home. He was staring at me in a way that would make a man notice him. He got off the car when I did."

Johnson said the man followed him, gaining on him at every step. Johnson walked to the center of the street, he said, and took out a .45 calibre revolver.

"I made up my mind that the moment that man put his foot off the curb I'd kill him," he said. "He started to step off the curb and I turned and faced him. He turned away and went on to my home."

take action to expedite the case. He accused the Thaw lawyers of trying to secure unwarranted delay. The court explained that under the commitment he had no jurisdiction. Mr. Thaw is jailed for an eight day period unless sooner released through his own efforts and cannot be brought into court except on a writ of habeas corpus. This writ can be granted only on his own application and his lawyers will not make application at present.

The Thaw lawyers sent W. S. Shurtliff of their staff to the dominion capital on a secret mission. They kept in telephone communication with him all day. Meanwhile Thaw held a levee in the old jail hospital, where he is confined. His brother-in-law, George L. Carnegie; his sister, Mrs. Carnegie, his chief assistant, Dr. Evans, and three personal friends called and spent a good part of the day with him.

The news that a warrant actually had been issued against Thaw charging him with violation of the immigration laws in entering Canada at a point not a legal port of entry, perturbed his lawyers. This was a phase of the question that was unexpected. It said they could easily have it set aside. But it makes it certain that the fight for Thaw's liberty will be a long drawn out and expensive one.

No Move This Week

The immigration officials here said that there would be no move by them before next Monday. They said it had been agreed to postpone the present proceedings until that date. Meanwhile Thaw will be held on the present imperfect commitment. A number of additional lawyers came into town today. They all gathered for conference in the offices of Charles D. White, who has taken full charge of the case. Meanwhile W. L. Shurtliff, one of the local attorneys, is in Ottawa today. He is there to checkmate any moves made by the opposition and to keep White informed of the various moves in the case at the capital.

The interest in the case continues to grow. Sightseers from every section of the province came in on today's trains and made for the court house and then went to the jail half a mile further up the hill.

One of the immigration officials on the ground who declined to permit the use of his name, outlined the government's position as follows: Not U. S. Tool

"There seems to be an idea on the part of American officials who are here that the Canadian immigration service can be used as a tool for collecting escaped criminals from the United States. They are overlooking the fact that we do not deport men because they have been adjudged guilty by an American judge or jury. We use our own sense in dealing with each case. We are not going to be in a hurry here. Every move we make will be strictly in accordance with law.

"When the court gets through with the present status of the Thaw case then we will afford Thaw every chance in the world to show that he is not an undesirable person. Personally, I think the case will be one which will have to fight its long way through the extradition courts."

say that Thaw can never hope to be turned loose and permitted to stay in Canada. But they say that they believe eventually he will be permitted to choose his own route in continuing his journey. A copy of all of the evidence in the case has been sent to the dominion authorities at Ottawa.

Can't be Legally Held

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 21.—If Harry Thaw can prove that he has a through trip ticket to Europe or otherwise out of Canada it is practically certain, whatever fight is put up in the courts of Canada, he cannot be legally held in the dominion, according to the authorities here.

The only charge that applies to the case of the fugitive from Matteawan is that of bribery. There is a slight reference to this in the existing extradition treaty between Canada and the United States, but before it can be used to detain Harry Thaw, it will have to be proved in a New York state court that he, personally has been guilty of offering money for illicit purposes to the guard at the gate through which he gained his freedom. This will also have to be proved in Canada beyond the mere verdict of an American court. Such a process would take a long time and Thaw and his advisers have carefully studied the law involved. The fact that he chose Quebec, the province which has proved so difficult in other extradition cases, indicates that he acted with deliberation.

Surrender of Harry K. Thaw to the New York authorities was demanded today in a telegram to the immigration authorities by Acting Governor Glynn. The immigration officials replied that no action could be taken regarding the demand until the present proceedings are concluded.

the first and fourth rounds. Brown

STAR TO JOIN THE SOX NEXT SEASON

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Reports that Blackburn would be asked to rejoin the Chicago Americans at once were denied at the office of President Comiskey on Wednesday. Milwaukee fans feared that the chances of their team winning the American association pennant would be weakened if Blackburn were taken away before the end of the season.

By getting Shortstop Breton from Kansas City, Manager Callahan of the locals thinks he is provided well enough for the short field for this season, and Blackburn, accordingly, will not be asked to report until next year.

EQUALS THE RECORD

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Direc-tum I, owned by James Butler, stands among the record holders today, hav-
